

THE ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY OF HARINGEY

Secretarial address:
79, Woodberry Avenue,
London. N.21.

September 1972.

NEWSLETTER

When Patrick Moore came to talk to us at the Space Age Exhibition in February, and saw the immense enthusiasm of the hundreds who came to hear him - he had to give his talk four times that afternoon to get everyone in - he suggested we form our own Astronomical Society in Haringey.

We took him up on this, and our inaugural meeting, attended by His Worship the Mayor, Cllr. Douglas Clark, and addressed by science writer Arthur C. Clarke, was another resounding success.

With an immediate membership of over fifty, a steering committee was formed, and as a result of their homework a series of meetings and events has been drawn up, starting with the first introductory meeting on Tuesday 26th. September, 7.30 p.m. at the Haringey Arts Centre, Lordship Lane, Wood Green, N.22. (Close to Wood Green Underground Station.)

To make sure that we all understand what Astronomy is about we will be given a talk at this meeting by Dudley Fuller, whose life is devoted to making instruments used for studying the stars. He will bring along a number of instruments made by Fullerscopes, so apart from getting advice and instruction, we shall be able to handle these superb instruments.

If you have not already joined the Society, or want to introduce a friend, complete and return the slip enclosed. For any further information please contact either the Secretary or the member of the Steering Committee nearest to you. Their names and addresses are listed on the following page.

We meet next then on Tuesday, 26th. Sept.

Fred. Clarke
